SIDE-EVENT

Preservation and valorization of Mediterranean forests from mass tourism impact

VI MFW
Mediterranean
Forest Week

TUESDAY 2 APRIL 2019

Cigar Lounge

17:00-18:30

OBJECTIVES

- Present the conclusions of the State of Mediterranean Forests 2018 on tourism-related impacts
- Present the Sierra Espuña case study as a best practice example
- Present and promote the actions led by the INHERIT and BleuTourMed projects
- Inform the participants on the achievements and current situation of the projects
- Attract and inform potential stakeholders for replication

EXPECTED OUTPUTS

- The participants are better informed on the impacts of mass-tourism or unsustainable tourism on biodiversity and natural fragile areas
- The participants know better the ongoing workstream on sustainable tourism and natural heritage protection in the Mediterranean area, their purpose, objectives, actions and current situation
- The results of the first actions implemented under the INHERIT and BleuTourMed projects are presented
- The participants have shared experiences and knowledge about these issues

TARGET AUDIENCE

Forest administrators, the scientific and academic community, the private sector, donors, civil society, environmental agencies and non-governmental organizations (NGOs).

LANGUAGE

The side-event will only be in English (no interpretation provided).

Project co-financed by the European
